

Buoy warning for all sea users

All fishermen, boat crew and recreational sea users are asked not to interfere with the yellow safety buoys, which are in place along the East Sussex coast during the summer months.

The buoys are vital safety aids, separating swimmers from larger and fast moving watercraft.

The cost to repair damage to the buoys goes into the thousands each year.

Please do not

- Moor your vessel up to the buoys
- Use them as a course for speedboats or jet skis
- Attempt to move their position
